National Fuel Resources: Delivering a long-term comprehensive energy solution

Since 1990, NFR has partnered with thousands of businesses in New York and Pennsylvania. From the largest industrial customers to small business owners, no other energy supplier is better equipped to provide your business with reliable supplies, competitive prices and a plan to control energy costs. Together, NFR and your business can solve your long-term energy management needs.

In business, high-energy costs can quickly cut into profits. Controlling these costs is our business.

National Fuel Resources, Inc. (NFR) and the Amherst Chamber of Commerce understand the importance of working together to help our business community. NFR is pleased to partner with the Amherst Chamber and be its choice as the Premier Supplier of natural gas. In these challenging economic times, NFR is able to stand behind its many assets and help businesses control their energy costs.

Your business energy investment portfolio.

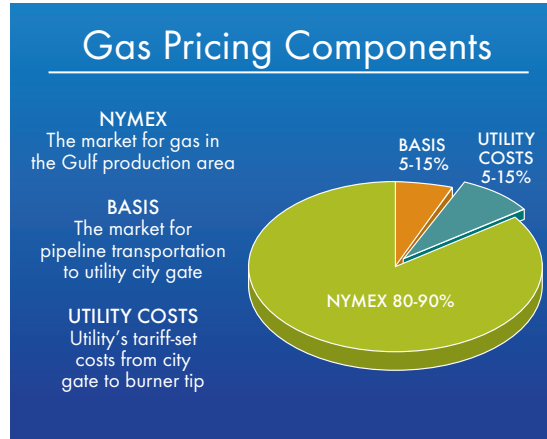

Choosing an energy pricing strategy is a lot like building an investment portfolio. Much like investment strategy - we analyze risk tolerance and help set pricing objectives. We work with our customers to identify an appropriate pricing strategy from a wide array of pricing options tailored to meet the individual needs of each business:

Fixed Pricing: Ideal for a business that works best with a low risk strategy and within budget constraints.

Layered Pricing: Low risk plus some market fluctuation. A perfect pricing blend allowing a business to lock-in a price on volumes while taking advantage of any declines in natural gas costs.

Variable Pricing: For a business capable of taking higher risks in a volatile marketplace, there may be advantages as market opportunities arise to convert their variable price to a layered or fixed price at any time.

Indexed Pricing: Ideal for dual-fuel customers with unpredictable consumption. A business can benefit from a pricing structure based on monthly and spot market indexes.

Also, offering benefits that your employee's can enjoy at home. LIMITED TIME!

NFR's Friends and Family Residential Program:

- Discounts on NFR's most popular pricing plans
- Any applicable tax savings
- Friendship Advantage Referral Program - Employees that enroll with NFR can refer their friends and receive a $20 referral reward to their bill (and their friends will receive a $20 reward too!)
